

Jordyn Tumas, MD

Resident (PGY4), Obstetrics and Gynecology
Mount Sinai Morningside and West

Educational efforts or scholarly performance: "Jordyn is a patient and thoughtful teacher. She always finds time to teach her co-residents, medical students and off service rotators regardless of how busy she is. She maintains an extensive collection of Powerpoint presentations that she has created in order to maximize every opportunity to teach with any spare moment on a busy labor floor. As education chief, Jordyn has spent countless hours organizing a resident education lecture series and has developed simulations to complement our clinical training. Jordyn is kind and respectful to everyone. She is also a wonderful role model. She lives her values and remains true to herself no matter how difficult the circumstances. I am so grateful to have the opportunity to learn from her and am becoming a better physician and teacher under her guidance."

Dale Lee, MD

Fellow (PGY6), Nephrology -Research
The Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to their peers; Service to patients and/or families: "Dale has been an invaluable resource to his co-fellows this year. He is always available and eager to answer general nephrology or home dialysis questions, and goes out of his way to make our lives easier. On Wednesdays, when the first year fellows have outpatient clinic, Dale volunteers his time to help with inpatient consults to ease the clinical burden for us. Additionally, he has organized informal educational didactics for us to learn about dialysis modalities and is always finding ways to improve our learning experience. He is the embodiment of a "team player" who is supportive, helpful, and puts others before himself. Dale is a true role model to us as a senior fellow and his absence from the program after he graduates will be sorely felt." "He goes out of his way to ensure his patients are getting the best care possible, even if this means working after hours. I once called him about a complicated patient situation, and he was literally on a train traveling for vacation, but he called me back and explained how to optimize the patient's prescription. He is conscientious and cares that each and every patient gets the best management at all times."
